

Intersoft Electronics – Quality Officer

We are looking for a Quality Officer

Intersoft Electronics is a Belgian company that develops products and services to keep air traffic running smoothly. Our mission is to enable our customers to perform their duties as air traffic controllers and airspace guardians effectively. To this end, we support them and their partners with specialized measuring equipment, analysis tools, and components for radar and navigation systems. Our products and services are used worldwide!

Are you someone who enjoys challenges, values teamwork, and loves a dynamic work environment? At Intersoft, we offer more than just a job: it's a place to boost your life and make a real impact!

Your role:

As a Quality Officer, you will support the Quality Manager in implementing quality procedures and monitoring quality standards within our organization. You will contribute to improving products, processes, and supplier follow-up, ensuring that we continue to meet the highest quality requirements of our customers and certifications.

Your tasks:

- Responsible for the operational quality of our production department in Geel
- Managing quality operators
- Determining quality inspections such as: visual, incoming, etc.
- Analyzing and reporting on operational qualities and defining proposals to improve them.
- Handling: non-conformities, CAPAs, improvements, SCARs, supplier and customer complaints, etc.

What do we expect from you?

- Bachelor's degree in a technical field (preferably electronics or industrial sciences) or equivalent through experience
- Some experience in a production or technical environment
- Affinity with quality management systems and process optimization
- Knowledge of ISO 9001 and internal audit principles is a plus
- Experience with supplier follow-up, KPIs, and audits is an asset
- You work accurately, are analytical, and solution-oriented
- Strong communication skills and smooth collaboration with technical and commercial teams
- You speak and write fluent Dutch and English

What do we offer you?

- A traffic jam-free working environment and flexible working hours.
- Fun company activities with great colleagues.
- A varied job in a stimulating high-tech environment.

- Opportunities for further development and learning.
- Permanent position with a competitive salary, group insurance, meal vouchers, and more.
